

PERMLIGHT

7/20/2007 Permlight Sponsors 2007 Building Industry Technology Academy's HomeAid Playhouse

Permlight Sponsors 2007 Building Industry Technology Academy's HomeAid Playhouse

Tustin, CA – Friday, July 20, 2007 – Permlight is proud to announce its involvement in the 2007 HomeAid Playhouse built by the Building Industry Technology Academy (BITA). The project will be entered in this year's HomeAid Playhouse competition.

Permlight will be providing long-life, low-power consumption LED lighting products for the playhouse. The high-efficacy fixtures will be paired with a small solar panel system, provided by Suntek.

The playhouse, which is being built by Orange County's Katella High School students, will be sold at an annual event to be held at Fashion Island Mall with proceeds going to support future efforts of the BITA.

“It is exciting to see students get such an advanced hands-on training. This opportunity provides them with something beyond the skill-set of simple framing. There aren't many other opportunities for students to get in-depth exposure to the technology that is already starting to change the construction industry,” commented Chris Werner, Permlight's Design & Development Manager.

Fernando Lynch, Permlight's President, added, “We are happy to support the efforts of the Building Industry Association and BITA. We know that versatile Solid State Lighting will change the face of residential and commercial lighting. Putting this technology into the hands of the next generation is the right thing to do.”

For more information about the Building Industry Association of Orange County (BIA/OC) and the Building Industry Technology Academy (BITA), visit their website: biaoc.com

About Permlight:

Permlight Products is a leading manufacturer of thermally managed LED lighting systems for signage and general illumination. Founded in 1995, Permlight has a proven track record providing high brightness, low energy, long lifetime, and low maintenance.

CONTACT: MICHAEL WEBB, VP SALES AND MARKETING

TELEPHONE: (714) 508-0729

www.permlight.com